The Arizona Archaeological Society (AAS) was founded in 1964 as an independent, non-profit corporation formed to study and investigate the historic and prehistoric cultures of Arizona and the neighboring regions. It is a further purpose of the Society to encourage a constructive public attitude toward the preservation of cultural remains. The society invites all individuals who are sympathetic to the above objectives to become members and participate in its activities.

The Desert Foothills Chapter is one of many local affiliates of the AAS. Membership in the Desert Foothills Chapter includes membership in the Society. Members in the Desert Foothills Chapter are eligible to participate in inexpensive classes, seminars, field schools, field trips, and excavations. Each membership, except non-voting memberships, receives a copy of the Society's monthly newsletter, "The Petroglyph" and the annual publication, "The Arizona Archaeologist".

We encourage anyone, from ages 12 and up, who have an interest in archaeology and the prehistory of Arizona and the Southwest to come to our monthly meetings. Admission is free to guests. Each meeting features a noted Southwestern archaeologist. Meetings are held on the 2nd Wednesday of each month at 7:30pm at::

Good Shepherd of the Hills Episcopal Church
6502 E. Cave Creek Road, Cave Creek, AZ 85331

DESERT FOOTHILLS CHAPTER

Objectives of the

Arizona Archaeological Society

- To foster interest and research in the archaeology of Arizona.
- To encourage public understanding and concern for archaeological and cultural resources.
- To protect antiquities by discouraging exploitation of archaeological resources.
- To aid in the conservation and preservation of scientific archaeological data and associated sites.
- To serve as a bond between the professional and the avocational archaeologist.
- To increase knowledge and improve the skills of the members in the disciplines of archaeology.
- To participate in investigations in the field of archaeology and to put the information so obtained into published form.
- To publish a journal and such monographs as the Publications Committee deems appropriate.
